

Categories of information

- The courts deal with the disputes between the parties and try the offences committed by the miscreants affecting law and order situation as well as rights of the fellow countryman, therefore, the courts possess personal information regarding the parties, disputes amongst the parties, their witnesses, disputed properties and the agreements etc. which have been violated and so on so forth.